Higher Education and Policy for Creative Economies in Africa

Developing Creative Economies

Edited by Roberta Comunian, Brian J. Hrcacs, University of Southampton, UK and Lauren England, Kings College London, UK

Series: Routledge Contemporary Africa

The book reflects on the role of the creative economies in a range of African countries (namely Ghana, Nigeria, South Africa and Kenya). Contributors consider the role of higher education and alternative forms of specialised education to reflect on how the creative aspiration of students (and future creative workers) of these countries are met and developed. Secondly, they explore the role of policy in supporting the agendas of the creative economy, taking also into consideration the potential historical dimension of policy interventions and the impact of a lack of policy frameworks. This book will be of interest to students, scholars and professionals.
